

We would like to thank the Mitsui & Co. Environmental Fund for their financial support from 2010 to 2016, without which we could not have continued to support the various research activities on Mt. Fuji detailed in this booklet. We also received financial support in 2006–2010 through collaborative research with the JAMSTEC group and through sponsored research from the National Institute for Environmental Studies, Japan. Thanks are also due to the Watanabe Memorial Foundation for the Advancement of New Technology, Japan Post, the Awai Hidero Environment Foundation, the Environmental Restoration and Conservation Agency, the Hitachi Global Foundation, and the Toyota Foundation for their financial support.

We also sincerely thank the many people who made individual donations, from retired JMA engineers to junior high schoolers contributing part of their allowance. Your thoughtful support is what makes our NPO possible.

We are grateful to the many supporters of our activities here in Japan and overseas. Among them, Dr. Russell C. Schnell and Dr. Neng-Huei (George) Lin for their assistance in the early stage of NPO activity, Professor Johannes Staehelin for his encouraging address at the first ACP meeting in Interlarken in 2010, and Dr. Gannet Hallar for her help with changing the name of our station in English.
